Youth Center

Carmel contributors are puzzled and not a little resentful at the action of the budget committee of the Community Chest in singling out the Carmel Youth Center for over 50 percent cut in allocation to the budget approved on the eve of the Chest drive.

Tuesday, the budget committee made the necessary reductions down the line for the various agencies in the chest, since the drive failed by around 25 percent of reaching its quota.

All agencies were cut, but none below their allocation for last year except the Carmel Youth Center.

The Center's budget, approved before the drive and used as publicity by the chest office for the Carmel drive, was $10,649.00. Tuesday, the budget committee allocated $4900 to the Youth Center. This is $2000 less than last year's allocation of $6900.

Seaside Youth Center was allocated $1.00 for an approved budget of $2,500, but Richard Bennett, chairman of the budget committee, told the Pine Cone that the $2500 had been budgeted to provide for a swimming instructor, which wouldn't be needed since the swimming pool had not been built.

He refused to give a statement of the reason for the discriminatory cut in the Carmel Youth Center's budget.

When asked for an explanation, he said that he did not wish to speak for the committee, and referred us to the minutes of the meeting, which were not available up to the time the Pine Cone went to press.

Carmel's quota was $37,600. It raised $30,673. However, the youth center serves the following areas: Carmel Valley which raised $5,328; Highlands, $1666; Pebble Beach $23,290; Country Club $4,805.

Total raised for the Community Chest by the area served by the Carmel Youth Center and interested in its welfare: $65,762. This is almost half of the amount raised by the entire Peninsula, $141,334.

County

The new grand jury will hold its organization meeting Monday night in Salinas, supervisors' chambers, 7:30 o'clock, to set up committees. Chairman is E. Milton Barber of Pebble Beach; Mary McEwen, Carmel, secretary. Of the 19 members, empaneled Tuesday, jurors from the Carmel side of the Hill, in addition to Barber and Mrs. McEwen, are: Louis Rudolph, Edgar W. Viall, and Mrs. Mary Shephard.

Another "organization" meeting, that of the Open Space Committee, is scheduled for 2:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in supervisors' chambers. This group can have more effect on the future of the county, depending on how it functions, than the next dozen grand juries. Purpose of the Open Space Committee is to find ways of keeping some of the county's scenery uncluttered by development. Scenic easements is one method.

The Junipero Serra Mothers' Club of Carmel Mission School will present their annual Fashion Show and Potluck Luncheon on February 4. The event will be held at the Mission from 12:30 to 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Nineteen mothers have been asked to model. They are: Mrs. Louis Allaire, Mrs. Frank Ambrosio, Mrs. Joseph Buffo, Mrs. Mary Burton, Mrs. Mary Alice Cummings, Mrs. Nuncio D'Acquisto, Mrs. Peter Delfino, Mrs. George Haltiner, Mrs. Osman Hull, Mrs. Tony Klepich, Mrs. Henry Kroffter, Mrs. Jack Mahoney, Mrs. Thomas Mason, Mrs. Don Matson, Mrs. Charlotte Penoyer, Mrs. Louis Ramos, Mrs. Kay Frates Romm, Mrs. Edward Snopkowski, and Mrs. Clem Trapkus.

Junior models will be Davette Allaire, Margie Biller, Teresa Buffo, Barbara Burton, Cynthia Calcagno, Maureen Connell, Connie and Sharen Crowley, Monica Cummings, Jean Haltiner, Joan Limov, Rose Marie Pollock, Suzanne Ramos, Patty and Vicki Snopkowski, Susan Sparolini, Mary Tucker, Carol Willert, and Mary Jo Woolsey.

MacGregor Casts Only No Vote To Fenton Gas Pumps

Six Carmel planning commissioners indicated yesterday afternoon that they will permit gas pumps and automobile service facilities as an accessory use to the proposed Fenton Plaza parking garage in the C-1 business district.

The seventh, Mrs. Jessie MacGregor, stoutly stated, "I can only consider this as being a service station." Service stations are prohibited in the C-1 business district under present zoning.

Commissioners will vote on the service station accessory use next Wednesday afternoon at a meeting at 4:00 o'clock in City Hall.

They postponed making a decision yesterday afternoon so that a committee composed of Commissioners Fred Keeble and Herbert Blanks, with City Attorney John (Continued on Page Sixteen)

Glenn Clairmonte's Calamity Jane, Honest Exciting Biography

Calamity Was the Name for Jane is the title of a new biography in which former Carmelite Glenn Clairmonte tells the true story of a fabulous frontierswoman who became a legend even in her own time.

The book reads like a novel; but the actions, emotions and conversations Mrs. Clairmonte attributes to her subject have been substantiated by painstaking research, and, more importantly, by the letters and diary written by Calamity Jane herself.

The rawboned, raucous redhead who could outstride, outshoot and outdrink most men of the rugged Western territories was born Martha Jane Canary in Missouri in 1852. Orphaned in Salt Lake City at the age of 16, and with a younger brother and sister to support, Martha Jane started her career in a dance hall—but the job lasted only a few hours. Crossing the plains had toughened the young tomboy; she was a fine horsewoman and a better shot, she could crack a bullwhip and drive a team of oxen, and she was strong and independent. After a few half-hearted attempts to earn a living doing household chores, she disguised herself as a man and got a job laying ties with a railroad construction gang.

From that point on, Jane spent her life in a man's world. She served as an Indian scout under Custer, worked as a bullwhacker, stagecoach driver and mail carrier. She was not without femininity; after her first job, she gave up posing as a man, though she frequently wore male attire for practical purposes. Her nickname was a grateful tribute to the fact that she was always around to help when a calamity occurred.

Though she had several passing affairs, there was only one man in Calamity Jane's life: the flamboyant character named Wild Bill Hickok, whom she met and secretly married in 1872. Her other love was the daughter fathered by Hickok, who deserted them when the child was born. Little Jane was subsequently adopted by a kindly (Continued on Page Two)

Adult School Opens Spring Semester Monday Evening

The Carmel Adult School will start its second semester classes on Monday, February 1. Although most classes are a continuation of the classes started in September, new students are being welcomed. If a student is in doubt as to his placement, information may be obtained by phoning the Adult School Office MA 4-1821 or by visiting the first class meeting.

Adult classes include art, music, literature, crafts, sewing, parent nurseries, foreign languages and machine woodworking.

Several classes starting this semester or being re-opened include Typing by Lloyd Miller; Citizenship, taught by John Campbell; Driver Education with Alan Aldwell and Patricia Edwards as instructors; and a new class in Photography for Beginners taught by Edward Graham, which will meet on Thursday evenings at 7:30 o'clock in the Multi-purpose Room at Tularcitos School.

Complete schedule of courses is to be found in an advertisement on page seven, this issue of The Pine Cone.

For further information call the Carmel Adult School, MAYfair 4-1821.

Knight Won't Run

Allen Knight, one of the three city councilmen whose terms expire in April, will not be a candidate for re-election, he told the Pine Cone this morning.

James Buffington said earlier this week that he would not run again.

Tom May will seek re-election. City Clerk Larry Rose and City Treasurer Sam Coleman will also be candidates for their respective offices.

Though filing opened today, neither May, Rose nor Coleman have taken out their nomination papers.

Mrs. Jeanie Morgan Klenke, who is a force in an "Old Carmel" group, The Society for the Conservation and Preservation of Carmel, took four nomination forms from the city clerk's office this morning.

She told the Pine Cone that her group had not selected their candidates.

"We are looking for persons who will work to stop encroachment of outside capital in Carmel," she said.

Filing closes at noon on February 18.

Absentee ballots may be obtained from the city clerk from March 23 through April 7.

Election is April 12.

Talk of who intend to run includes Francis Whitaker, who resigned from the city council in protest when Allen Knight was appointed to fill a vacancy, and six months ago said he would run for council in the next election. Whitaker told the Pine Cone last night he is not ready to announce whether or not he will be a candidate.

Rumor persists that Patricia Hall is interested in running, though she left on January 20 for a month's bus tour of Mexico. A month would bring her back to Carmel the day before filing closes.

Frank Barker Found Dead In Barber Shop

Frank Barker was found dead this morning in the barber shop which he operated on Lincoln Street between Ocean Avenue and Seventh Street.

Mrs. Frank La Roche, an employee at Robert's Beauty Shop next to the barber shop, saw Mr. Barker lying on the floor as she was going to work. She called the Carmel police department at 8:28 o'clock and Police Chief Clyde Klaumann investigated.

The Red Cross ambulance crew, called by the police, unsuccessfully tried resuscitation. The physician on emergency call duty at the Peninsula Community Hospital pronounced Mr. Barker dead. Death, presumably, was caused by a heart attack.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of Paul Mortuary and will be announced later.

Basketball

Friday, Jan. 29—San Lorenzo Valley High (Felton) at Carmel—5:30 p. m.

PADRES HOST SAN LORENZO CAGERS FRIDAY NIGHT

Second-round play opens for Carmel High's basketball squads tomorrow night when the San Lorenzo Cougars invade the Padre pavilion for return engagements with the high-flying Carmel crew. In an early season game which marked the opening of CCAL action, the Padres spanked the Cougars, 76 to 43, as Russ Wise set a new Carmel High scoring mark. The San Lorenzo quintet hasn't been able to defeat an opponent so far this season and a win over the front-running Padres would be a booming upset. However, the Cougars have improved in recent starts and gave Pacific Grove a good tussle before dropping the decision to the Breakers. Carmel is locked up in a two-way for first place after its win over Pacific Grove last Friday night and it now appears to be a showdown between the Padres and King City Mustangs for the B-division title.

While Carmel and San Lorenzo square off at the Padre gym, Pacific Grove travels to Gonzales and King City makes the trip to Morgan Hill to meet Live Oak. Either Gonzales or Pacific Grove will be eliminated from titular contention after tomorrow night's play and the winner of this one will have a chance to earn a tie for the top spot.

Carmel's lightweight squad, winless in league play, will be out to avenge an early season loss to the Cougar Babes in a 7:00 o'clock game. Junior-varsity action starts the triple-bill at 5:30 o'clock.

CARMEL EDGES P. G. IN OVERTIME THRILLER

In one of the best hoop contests of the current season, Carmel High's varsity overcame a determined Pacific Grove quintet to win a crucial league victory, 53 to 48, last Friday night at the Breaker gym. The win over Pacific Grove keeps the Padres abreast of King City for the league lead as the Mustangs whipped Gonzales, 44 to 35. Although marred by frequent parades to the free-throw line, Friday night's overtime fracas was a thriller all the way with the lead changing hands nine times before the issue was settled.

Great rebounding by Chris Wilkin plus outstanding clutch performances by Mike Draper, Dave Fuller, and Fred Bucher gave the Padres the boost needed to get over the stubborn Breakers. In the overtime period, Bucher pushed through a pair of field goals and Draper made good on four charity tosses to put the Padres out of reach. Wilkin was Carmel's big man on the boards during most of the contest since Russ Wise fouled out early in the going and left the rebounding burden on big Chris.

Bucky Boyns and Rusty Reed were the bright lights in the Breakers attack, Boyns hitting for 15 points and Reed getting a dozen. Bucky also provided the crucial points which tied the game and forced the action into overtime. Before he fouled out in the final heat, Mike Harris turned a great defensive job for the Breakers and gave the Carmel rebounders a real tussle at both ends of the court.

Carmel's inept lightweight squad was no match for the classy Pacific Grove Babes and were snowed under, 58 to 25. Coach Charley Howell's charges romped to a 22-9 halftime bulge over Coach Hadley Hick's crew and turned the game over to the fourth and fifth stringers during the second half. Bob Bommarito was top scorer for the game with 13 points while Steve Fairfield picked up 11 markers to lead the Carmel lights.

With Frank Mayo and Jim Brown scoring 15 and 14 points respectively, Carmel's junior-varsity put on a big second half surge to clip the Breaker reserves, 50 to 34. Pacific Grove led Coach Lawitzke's charges, 10 to 18, at the half but couldn't contain the determined Carmel charge in the last two periods. Besides doing outstanding work in the rebounding department, Mike Dunham and Scott Forbes each added 10 points to the Carmel side of the scoreboard.

KEN VENTURI WINS CROSBY TOURNAMENT

Ken Venturi, young San Francisco professional, staggered in with a five over par 77 in Sunday's final round of the Crosby Tournament at Pebble Beach but hung on to pick up the first place money as the tricky wind and driving rain thwarted the par-shooting efforts of all the pros. Venturi finished with a two under par 286 for the 72 holes to finish three strokes in front of Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N. C. who had a 73 in Sunday's tough play at Pebble Beach, and Tommy Jacobs of Palm Springs who carded a 75 in the last day's play. Besides the $4,000 check he picked up for winning the individual division, Venturi earned $1,350 by deadlocking for second place in the pro-am division. With his Crosby payday, Venturi moved to second place in the professional money hunt, trailing Dow Finsterwald by $1,000.

Making the Crosby an exclusive San Francisco affair, Bud Ward and his amateur partner, Bob Silvestri, shot a 262 to win the pro-amateur title. The Venturi-Harvey Ward Jr. team tied with Julius Boros and Don Schwab for second place with scores of 265. Long-hitting George Bayer and Morgan Barofsky carded 266 for third place money.

Last year's Crosby winner, Art Wall Jr., finished far down the list and had to be content with $670 loot in the pro division and $165 in the pro-am chase. Wall and amateur partner, Charles Coe, won the pro-am last year with record-breaking 252.

Sunday night's Victory Dinner was attended by over 700 of Bing's friends and was a fast-moving affair featured by awards to the golfers and song-and-dance routines by the Crosby clan. Bing's three sons, Dennis, Lin, and Phil teamed up with the Old Master to brighten up the show.

Len Pitman

Len Harvey Pitman died on Tuesday morning in his home on Lobos Street after a long period of failing health. He had lived in Carmel for 14 years.

Mr. Pitman was born on December 9, 1897, in Clarinda, Iowa. He moved to California in 1941. In 1950 he retired after 33 years as a rural letter carrier for the U. S. Postal Service. Part of this service was a Carmel rural route. He married the former Helen S. Swanson in North Platte, Nebraska, in 1922.

Mr. Pitman was a member of the Rural Letter Carriers Association and the Carmel Presbyterian Church.

He is survived by his wife, three sons, Donald D. Pitman of Menlo Park, Charles E. Pitman of Redwood City and Merle K. Pitman of Carmel; two brothers, George Pitman of Richmond and Louis E. Pitman of Littleton, Colorado; and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Chamberlain of Fort Lupton, Colorado.

Dr. Joseph M. Ewing, pastor of the Carmel Presbyterian Church, officiated at funeral services for Mr. Pitman this morning in the Paul Funeral Chapel. Burial was in El Carmelo Cemetery.

Glenn Clairmont's Calamity Jane, Honest Exciting Biography

couple named O'Neil, who took her with them to England.

Her letters to her daughter in the years that followed are a sad contrast to the bravado Calamity Jane assumed to mask her emptiness and sorrow. One tragedy followed another: smallpox destroyed what was left of her looks, already coarsened by hard drinking and hard living; her brother was massacred with Custer at Little Big Horn. Wild Bill got an annulment of their marriage in 1876, and later that same year, gambling in a saloon at Deadwood Gulch, he was shot in the back and killed.

Deadwood, a frontier town in the Dakota Territory, was Calamity Jane's home base during most of her later years, which found her legend growing both in fiction and fact. Her feats as an Indian fighter, sharpshooter and stage-coach driver were wildly sensationalized in the Eastern tabloids. She also tried stints as a bartender, entertainer and gambler; once she won $20,000 in a poker game, put most of it in trust for her daughter and used the rest to visit the child then seven years old and living in Virginia. Some years later, while she was performing in Buffalo Bill Cody's Wild West Show, she saw Janey once again; but the two were worlds apart. During the last few months of her life, Calamity Jane—alcoholic, sick, nearly blind—was reduced to peddling photographs of herself in scout uniform around the saloons of Deadwood. In August of 1903, almost 27 years to the day after Wild Bill Hickok's murder, Calamity Jane died, at age 51.

It is hard to believe such a character actually existed within living memory; harder yet to put down her story once started on Glenn Clairmont's vivid biography. Calamity Was the Name for Jane is a fascinating factual addition to the literature of the American West.

STORY AND PICTURE BY STEVE CROUCH

What is happening in American Art today can only be compared to two other periods in modern history: the Renaissance and the artistic revolt of the Impressionists and the Fauves at the turn of the present century.

So believes Geza St. Galy, painter, mosaicist, ceramic artist, foremost exponent of the Byzantine art form on the Peninsula, and member of the Carmel Art Commission.

"When Lorenzo de Medici, Pandolfo Malatesta, Francesco Sforza, and all the other Italian nobles of their time became art patrons on a scale never before seen in human history, the burgeoning of art and literature marked a period which left a legacy of beauty for succeeding generations which is incalculable.

"Subsequently, art entered into a more or less imitative period, relieved only by such giants as Rembrandt, El Greco, Velasquez, and a few others of similar stature, which lasted until the latter part of the 19th century. At that time, Manet, Degas, Cezanne, Monet, Pissaro and the rest of the Impressionists, chafing at the strictures of the French school, burst their bonds and began to paint in a new manner unheard of prior to their time. Following them, Van Gogh, Picasso, Matisse and their contemporaries completed the revolution and dealt formalized art a blow from which it has not fully recovered.

"Now, just 50 years later," St. Galy went on, "A third era is beginning. Already the art historians are referring to it as 'the American interlude,' characterized by the artists of America capturing the attention of the world with their efforts. The tables have been turned. In art, Europe now imitates America."

St. Galy believes that this present-day period is signally noted for a new phenomenon: tremendous interest in art, to the extent of buying and collecting it, by the average American, instead of by the select and wealthy few.

"Regardless of what you think of them, you must give credit to the often-maligned American mass circulation magazines such as Life which have, since the last war, heavily featured displays of art of all kind. This, in turn, has awakened many people to good art instead of the syrupy calendar paintings that had passed for art among the majority in America before."

St. Galy has a long background in the humanities and in art. During his boyhood in Transylvanian Hungary, he learned the Latin classics by heart. Indeed, his grandfather would converse with him only in Latin. His father, a judge, saw to it that his early education and discipline were thorough. As punishment for some boyish peccadillo, his father would take him into the family living room and make him walk up and down repeatedly so that the grim and unsmiling portraits of his forebears lining the walls could look down on his humiliation and remorse.

At Archduke Joseph University in Budapest, he graduated in architecture and went on to Franz Joseph University in Szeged where he majored in the humanities and earned his Ph. D.

After this, he entered the Academy of Art in Budapest and took up ceramics and the graphic arts. His holidays were spent in summer universities in Siena, Florence, Vienna, and Graz. In 1938, he was chosen to head the art section of the Hungarian National Fair in Budapest.

The last year before the war found him visiting the modern sculptor, Ivan Mestrovic, in Split, Yugoslavia. Mestrovic's atelier was in Diocletian's palace and St. Galy saw many Byzantine frescos and mosaics there and in the surrounding countryside and was irrevocably influenced by them. His present-day religious mosaics, though undeniably modern, are Byzantine still.

When war came, St. Galy made his way back to Hungary and went to work with the Swedish Red Cross through the harrowing years of German and Russian occupation and oppression, including one unnerving week as a physician for Russian wounded, brought about by the inability of an obtuse Russian colonel to differentiate between a Ph. D. and an M. D.

In 1948, finding life in Hungary without future, he slipped across the border into Austria. Taking employment at a small hotel in the British zone, he worked as clerk, kookkeeper, pianist in the dining room and painted watercolors for tourists in his spare time.

Eventually, his peregrinations led him to New York and then to Los Angeles where he worked with a firm which utilized his skill in ceramics in the manufacture of decorative swimming pool tile. There he married his wife, a German girl living in Los Angeles.

On a trip to Berkeley to visit fellow Hungarians, he came to Carmel for a weekend. He returned to Los Angeles only to pick up his belongings and move them north.

"They told me Carmel was a dead end," St. Galy laughed. "I don't find it so at all. For 15 years, I lived in the maelstrom of Europe—at war and in ruins. We lived like animals at times; no shelter, no food, rooting in the forest for nuts and berries to keep alive. In New York and Los Angeles, the tension and confusion were almost as bad. It was a period of tremendous and vivid impressions with no time to digest them. Carmel to me is an oasis of comparative tranquillity with plenty of time to think and work in an atmosphere of art."

That this tranquillity has been conducive to great productivity is evidenced by his work: from his recently completed series of mosaics for the largest Lutheran church in St. Louis to the large wall mosaic in the newly-completed San Jose Civic Center building, depicting the development of California history. Locally, he was the instigator of the religious art festival held annually at the Church of the Wayfarer.

"I feel that all of America is stirring with a tremendous upsurge of art activity and out of this welter will emerge another Van Gogh, another Leonardo, another Gauguin—maybe utterly unknown now, but to be revered by future generations."

"These are the grapes. The future will drink the wine of today's grapes. The poet puts a part of himself into his words, the artist some of himself into each canvas. And these remain, if they are honest with themselves, as a testament to their beliefs."

"I think each of us must feel as did the blind Czech Hussite military genius, Johannes Zizka, who,

Carleton Miller

Carleton Earle Miller died on Monday in a local hospital. His health had been failing for some time.

Mr. Miller divided his time between Palo Alto and the home in Carmel Valley which he established a year ago. He was retired and golf and traveling occupied much of his time during past years. He was born in San Francisco on November 7, 1891.

Survivors are his wife, Catherine; four sons, Carleton Miller of Bramford, Connecticut, Dr. Charles I. Miller of Redding, John Miller of Atherton and William Miller of Phoenix, Arizona; a daughter, Mrs. Richard Gonzalez of Woodside; and 16 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow in the Hapgood and Roller Mortuary, Palo Alto.

committee, three members from each supervisorial district, the Peninsula and Salinas each having a member at large. Our district's representatives are: J. F. van Loben Sels, Carmel; Nicholas Roosevelt, Partington Ridge; General R. O. Bare, Carmel Valley; Francis Whitaker, Carmel.

If the rest of the county is as well represented, there is much to be hoped for.

Tomorrow night, in supervisors' chambers, the tax equalization committee meets with County Counsel William Stoffers. Stoffers was delegated by the board of supervisors to defend the county against Gunnar Norberg's idea that cities should have a lower county tax rate than the heavily populated areas which fringe the cities and receive city-type services from the county without having to pay city taxes.

Norberg argues that there is nothing shockingly new about his proposal. From 1904 to 1934 there was a differential between city and unincorporated area tax rates in Monterey County, ranging from 34 to as much as 60 cents in favor of the cities.

But he is thinking of a three-way differential. He does not want agricultural property penalized. He believes the burden should fall on the heavily populated but unincorporated developments.

Billboards

A Carmel delegation was present Tuesday morning to support the county planning commission when they said no to Foster and Kleiser and other billboard companies, who had requested drastic changes in the county ordinance so as to avoid having to remove 388 boards in "unclassified" zones when their time of grace is up on July 1.

There is a loop-hole left, and it can be a big one, depending on the policy of the planning commission.

In addition to recommending "that the ordinance not be amended," the planning commission committee which had been studying the billboard companies' proposals, recommended: "That the staff conduct a study of potential commercial and industrial areas along the state highway in Monterey County which are presently up for consideration of precise zoning by the commission. The result of this study to be made to the commission on February 24."

The number of billboards, now in unclassified zones, that will be allowed to remain depends on the extent of unclassified land that the planning commission zones for commercial and industrial use.

Senator Fred Farr and Councilman Tom May protested. They said county zoning should go according to master plan and not be accomplished on a month's notice to accommodate billboard companies. May pointed out that other considerations were more important than the presence of billboards in determining what land should be zoned for commercial use.

Others present at the meeting who spoke in support of maintaining the billboard ordinance without modification were:

Admiral C. W. Fisher, representing Carmel Citizens' Committee; Mrs. Frances Sweeney, Carmel Unincorporated; Tom Elston, Monterey Bay Chapter of the American Institute of Architects; all of Carmel, and Gordon Hall, representing the Monterey City Planning Commission.

Letters in support of the billboard ordinance came from: The California Roadside Council, Del Monte Properties, Monterey County Citizens Planning Association, Carmel Highlands Advisory Committee, Carmel Valley Property

PHYSICIANS MEETING AT DEL MONTE

The Tenth Annual Regional Postgraduate Institute presented by the University of California and the California Medical Association is in session today and tomorrow at Del Monte Lodge.

Four fields in the daily practice of medicine will be discussed: Drugs and the Mind; Advances in Gastroenterology; Infection, Immunity and Hypersensitivity; Pulmonary Disease.

Dr. LeGrand Woolley, president of the Monterey County Medical Society, Dr. Osman Hull, secretary, and Ray B. Grove, executive secretary, will be hosts for the west coast counties' medical doctors in attendance. Dr. A. F. Kandlbinder and Dr. Edwin J. Tucker are Peninsula members of the Regional Postgraduate Committee that arranged the meetings.

Yesterday convention meetings of the Western Society for Clinical Research opened in the Golden Bough Theatre with headquarters of the group at La Playa Hotel. The convention will continue through Saturday. Physicians from the western states working in clinical research are here for the event. Among them is Dr. James Hopper, son of the late James Hopper, one of the early Carmel writers. Dr. Hopper is associated with the University of California Hospital in San Francisco.

Association, Point Lobos League, Highlands Association, Monterey Bay Chapter of Nature Conservancy; Carmel Rotary Club.

MOTEL ASSOCIATION ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Carmel Motel Association members elected new officers last night at a meeting in Pine Inn. George Tett, Carmel River Inn, is the 1960 chairman of the group. Bill Sefton, Oak Tree Lodge, is vice chairman. Secretary-treasurer for 1960 is Hazel Faber, Mission Ranch Cottages.

Directors elected last night were Rolly Martin, The Rider, and Carroll McKee, Colonial Terrace.

AMBULANCE CALL FOR ROBERT KENT

Robert Kent, Junipero Street between Eleventh and Twelfth Avenues, was taken to the Peninsula Community Hospital Annex on Sunday evening in the Red Cross Ambulance operated by the Carmel Fire Department. The medical emergency call to Mr. Kent's residence was received at 5:40 o'clock.

Mr. Kent is "progressing very nicely," according to the hospital report.

Council To Consider Beach Sand Shifting Proposal On Tour

This is good citizens month in Carmel. There is not one request for permission to remove trees on the agenda for Tuesday afternoon's city council tree tour.

When the council starts from city hall at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon, it will have only three locations to visit: Ocean Avenue at Junipero to consider the Pacific Gas and Electric Company's proposal to remove the existing anchor and pole on the southwest corner and install a new anchor to the existing pole on Ocean, east of Junipero.

There is a request for a driveway variance on Santa Rita, northeast of Sixth Avenue.

William Crawford has requested permission to move sand from his private property at the north end of the beach to the sand dunes, to develop use of his land. This will involve removal of trees and brush on private property.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press, Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

Noel Coward's Nude With Violin At Circle Theatre

The Golden Bough Circle Theatre offers Noel Coward's Nude With Violin for six weekends beginning January 29.

With Sir John Gielgud in its leading role, Nude With Violin was a long run hit in London, and in the 1957-58 season it was a delight for New York theatregoers with Coward himself in the central part of a cunning and profligate valet to a celebrated modern painter. Frederick Rider will be seen in this role here. Mr. Rider has been supplanted in his customary role of director by Edward Kuster, who decided to produce the play in Carmel after seeing the original London production.

The comedy's plot has to do with the skillful maneuvering of the artist's valet, following the painter's death, in foiling the blackmail of the obscure people who really painted his canvases.

In addition to Mr. Rider as the valet, the cast will include Fran Thunen, Barbara Burdick, Lee Williams and Marcia Rider as the painter's long-deserted wife, daughter, son and daughter-in-law; Genevieve Armanasco and Carolyn Elstob as a pair of his lights-of-love, and Madeleine Dowdakin, Karekin Kardzair, David Armanasco and Dick Goulard.

Chamber Music Society Announces Season Schedule

The Chamber Music Society of Carmel, directed by Gilbert Boyer, announces its plans for its fifth season of concerts. Serving on the executive committee with Mr. Boyer are Mr. Lloyd Clapper, Mr. Philippe Buhler, and Mrs. Michel McKay.

On Sunday afternoon a bonus concert, open to last season's subscribers and new subscribers, will be presented by Mrs. Mary Dobel, cellist, and Gilbert Boyer, pianist. This will be followed by a social hour and refreshments.

The Public Concerts, to be presented in the Carmel Woman's Club and Sunset Auditorium will be on Sunday afternoons at 5:00 o'clock February 14, March 20, April 24, and May 22. These concerts will present combinations of instruments including duets, trios, quartets, quintettes, chamber orchestra, and solos. The programs will be balanced between strings, piano, woodwinds, brass, and voice in various combinations. The composers will range from pre-Bach to contemporary.

During the season an exchange concert by the San Francisco Institute of Music and Art will be given here. Also, a first performance in the United States of a rediscovered Vivaldi Chamber Mass for soloists, chorus, and chamber orchestra will be conducted by Mr. Vabe Aslanian of Hartnell who unearthed it in Italy last year.

The opportunity of a public concerto performance by a promising young instrumentalist or singer in the area will be offered again. Also a first performance of a composition by one of our outstanding local composers will be presented.

This season, in order to give performers, singers, and composers of this area an opportunity to try over concerti, songs, and new compositions, the chamber orchestra is setting aside a portion of its rehearsal time for this purpose. Any performers or composers interested may telephone Mr. Boyer at MAyfair 4-3347.

MOUNTAIN MAIDEN

*Evening tiptoed over the hill
That holds the firebrand
Of setting sun, a maiden tall
With lantern in her hand.*

—THELMA IRELAND

ABANDONED FARM

*I walk the neglected lane
Where rigid cherry trees
With naked branches strain
To meet the winds' decrees.*

*A lost bird trills . . . wild clouds
Obey a force that thumbs
The somber grey which shrouds
The sun. A leaf becomes
A question mark on snow . . .
An unhinged creaking gate
Cries havoc, none to know
Or care, a pawn of fate.*

*A home, abandoned, dies
And leaves a tale untold . . .
As love, unfed, supplies
No joy when hearts grow old.*

—LAURA JANET LARSON

FAREWELL SUPPER

*With monk-like solemnity
The tortoise
Turned his bald head
And eyed me benignly
As he chomped
The yellow rose-bloom supper.
Then he pushed his tankish way
Through brush
To the hibernation home
He had dug
Under the corner of the fence,
Where the Japanese fire brush grows.
The air was summer-warm;
Winter did not know that it was here;
But the tortoise knew.*

—CLAUDINE KEINONEN

SUCH A LITTLE WHILE . . .

*The mockingbird sang sweet when Susan came,
The lilac bloomed, and hope was reconciled
In circled love. Life held a higher aim
In guiding of her steps . . . But duties piled Across the hours of each fatiguing day
And money seemed so lacking that she found
Some work . . . a month or so . . . there'd be a way . . .
Another could take over, be around
When there was need or any obvious lack Within her Susan's life. The years crept on—
In endless tread with scarce a looking back
Or realizing time had come and gone.*

Remorse was keen the day she watched her, grown Beyond her love to interests of her own.

—MARY GUSTAFSON

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Those of you who enjoyed Mary McCarthy's book about Venice will be ready and waiting for her latest one which is called The Stones of Florence. The book begins with a prologue, closes with an epilogue, and between them discusses Florence from the standpoint of its buildings, its streets, its art treasures, and its history. The illustrations are beautiful photographs. Once again Mary McCarthy has given us a wonderful esthetic experience.

Peter Gouillart was a Russian who escaped from his home in China during the war years and finally made his way to Tibet. There he first glimpsed the members of a tribe of fierce and warlike Lolos known as the Princes of the Black Bones. Gouillart visited these people in their villages. He wrote a book about them, or we wouldn't be bothering about him here, and the book is called Land of the Lamas. This is great stuff for armchair travelers.

This is the age of the guided missile, and important reading is contained in books about our struggle with the Soviet Union for supremacy in this field. Asher Lee edited one which is entitled The Soviet Air and Rocket Forces. It may be that you find it hard to work up an interest in this subject, but you really should, because it is so very vital at this time.

Leaving the missiles race and going into the policies which have governed our dealings with other nations since the last great war, we have a new book by Max Ways entitled Beyond Survival. The writing of the book was a commission from Henry R. Luce, of Time-Life publishing company, and at the time he started the writing Mr. Ways was head of their London office. Surely any book which might contribute an insight into our foreign policy deserves an avid reading public.

From missile, to policies, to thoughts, and so we find The Amazing Results of Positive Thinking by Norman Vincent Peale. This is a testimonial book attesting to results obtained by reading The Power of Positive Thinking and then applying the teachings contained therein. Did you?

The companionship and love of General Ulysses S. Grant and his wife Julia Dent Grant, were decisive things in Grant's career and without them he might never have attained the heights to which he climbed. Yet until now, no writer had ever done a biography of Mrs. Grant. Ishbel Ross has written such a biography and called it The General's Wife. Complete with notes, bibliography, and a good index, this is a worthy book to fill a gap in our biographical history of the time.

Good books to fill your time while you recover from the cold you caught watching the Crosby in the rain . . . or were you another one grateful for television the past weekend.

Wilderness Of The West

A Monthly Column
by C. Edward Graves

11. National Wildlands News

Monterey Peninsula conservationists will be particularly interested in the launching of a new publication in the field of conservation journalism, known as National Wildlands News. Its editor is Devereux Butcher, formerly editor, and at one time Executive Secretary, of the National Parks Association, who spent several months in Carmel two winters ago. Its Western Editor J. F. (Joe) Carithers, formerly Western Representative of the National Parks Association, who lived in the Carmel Valley in 1957 and 1958.

National Wildlands News is a self-styled "independent" newspaper dedicated to the preservation of national parks, monuments and wildlife refuges as nature sanctuaries. It is published eleven times a year, once a month except August. The first issue was dated December 1959. The subscription price is $1.00 per year, which may be sent to the office at 2607 Connecticut Ave., Washington, D.C.

I know of no better way to keep informed about the current conservation issues at small cost. Of course the ideal way is to join half a dozen of the leading conservation organizations of the country, such as the Sierra Club, the Wilderness Society, the Nature Conservancy and others. A really earnest conservationist will do this, but it takes time and quite a bit of money. I have just figured my bill for memberships in such organizations and at the present time it comes to $37.50 per year.

A quick glance at the January issue of National Wildlands News shows condensed but very informative articles on the following subjects: The proposed Cascades Volcanic National Park in Oregon; Hearings on the proposed Great Basin National Park in Nevada; Secretary of the Interior Seaton's report on the bill to change Dinosaur National Monument in Utah to national park status; Establishment of three new Wildlife Refuges; The threat of irrigationists and homesteaders to the Tule Lake National Wildlife Refuge in northern California; An excellent editorial on the administration of Mission 66 by the National Park Service; A column of book reviews; A story about the Navy's plan to slaughter hundreds of thousands of albatross in the Midway Island area; A report on the revived plan to build a tramway from Palm Springs to San Jacinto Wild Area.

In addition to these items—all on burning conservation issues—there is a special two-page Pictorial Insert on the proposed Cape Cod National Seashore in Massachusetts, and the proposed Oregon Dunes National Seashore, profusely illustrated with excellent photographs and maps. Another one on the proposed Point Reyes National Seashore in California, which I had the pleasure of preparing, will appear soon. These National Seashores have been proposed as the result of surveys made by the National Park Service in recent years, which brought out the fact that almost all of the remaining undeveloped ocean frontages in the country are privately owned.

There is great need of more interest in these conservation matters on the part of the average busy person, occupied with making a living for his family. Mr. Butcher is to be congratulated on giving these people an opportunity to keep informed and up-to-date on such a modest price and in such well-planned and well-edited publication.

Frank Sampson

Frank N. Sampson, retired sea captain, died on Saturday in his home at Seventh Avenue and Forest Place. He was 73 years old.

Captain Sampson was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on November 20, 1886. When he was a child he moved with his family to San Francisco. At the age of 15 he went to sea as a deck boy on the Zampa, a three-masted sailing ship bound for Honolulu. In 1910 he joined the Pacific Mail Line then moved to the Dollar Line, sailing with these two lines for 21 years. During this time he served as mate on the City of Panama, commanded the Newport and was chief mate of the President Wilson. In 1931 he joined the United Fruit Company's "great white fleet."

Captain Sampson retired from the sea and became a United States steamboat inspector in Portland, Maine, in 1935. He was married the same year. The following year he was moved by the government to Seattle to be an inspector of hulls.

He remained in government service until he retired in 1949.

Captain Sampson served in both World Wars. In World War I he was a lieutenant on a ship which carried high explosives through U-boat waters, and made 15 such trips to France. During World War II he again served with the Navy, this time as a lieutenant commander.

After moving to Carmel 12 years ago, Captain Sampson was a marine surveyor for insurance companies. He also adjusted compasses for all kinds of vessels.

He is survived by his wife,

Blanche E. Sampson, and a son, Toby.

Burial services were held in the Golden Gate National cemetery in San Bruno.

CRAFT STUDIOS AWARD

Popular voting chose Louise McNear of Pebble Beach as first place winner in the weekly Friday afternoon art show at the Craft Studios. Agnes Bernie of Monterey was second. Both artists submitted watercolors.

Music On The Peninsula

By MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

A young pianist of 18 with the good Scottish name of Mary Macdonald last Monday played a comprehensive program of classics on the piano from Copenhagen recently presented to the Church of the Wayfarer by Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Swim. It was the dedication concert for the piano, and the audience filled Friendship Hall. While only just graduated from High School in Los Angeles, Mary Macdonald has accomplished the status of a concert pianist. She is gifted with a genuine musical intelligence and possessed of technical acquirement equal to any demand. As a pupil of Ethel Bartlett Robertson, she gave thoroughly interesting interpretations of the Bach Fantasy in C minor, Mozart's Sonata in C major, the Variations Serieuses of Mendelssohn, three preludes, the Etude in C minor, Nocturne in A sharp minor, and Ballade in A flat of Chopin, also the Bagatelles op. 5 of Tcherenpin.

Her rhythm phrasing and dynamics, and definite, though flexible, touch, were all that could be desired, a deeper sensitivity is bound to grow with experience. The brilliancy of the B major Chopin Prelude and Ballade in A flat drew a spirited ovation, and though the newness of the piano occasionally created a slight handicap, she surmounted all as the virtuoso she already is. Her simple stage attitude and humility in this age of super-sophistication bespeaks the soul of a fine individual. Her eyes shine with devotion and enthusiasm for music when she talks of her ambition that will undoubtedly eventually place her in the concert world. With her mother, she was met and congratulated by the audience in a social period following the program. Punch was served by the Church Committee.

On February 20 and 21 two performances will be made by the Moscow State Symphony at the Civic Auditorium in San Francisco as announced by the San Francisco Symphony Association. The Sunday matinee (February 21) will be an all Tchaikovsky program and feature Emil Gilels as piano soloist, conducted by Konstantin Ivanov, the regular conductor of the Moscow Symphony. The Saturday evening program will be conducted by Kiril Kondrashin with Valeri Klimov as violin soloist.

Mrs. Zahrah Lee Koepp, former Carmel resident, was killed on January 21 in an automobile accident on Highway 6. She was travelling with her daughter, Laura Lee Koepp, who was seriously injured. They were on their way from Hollywood to visit another of Mrs. Koepp's daughters, Mrs. Gerald Lyon of Kernville.

Zahrah Koepp

Mrs. Koepp came to Carmel in 1924 to study drama in the first class at the original Golden Bough Theatre. Here she met and married Guy Koepp, an architect. The couple, with their four children lived here until World War II when Mr. Koepp became associated with a Southern California aircraft company and established a home in Hollywood. He died several months ago after a heart attack.

The late Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lee of Carmel were Mrs. Koepp's parents. Survivors, in addition to Laura Lee Koepp and Mrs. Lyon, are another daughter, Mrs. Karl Wray of Southern California; a son, Donald Lee Koepp of Honolulu; three brothers, Rowland, Robert and Donald Lee of Hollywood; and eight grandchildren.

Private funeral services were held last Thursday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea. Inurnment was in the family plot in San Gabriel Cemetery.

Mary Crawford

Miss Mary Christine Crawford died on January 21 in a local rest home where she had been a patient for two years.

Born in Montreal, Canada, Miss Crawford lived in Santa Monica before coming to Carmel in 1945. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Agnes Dupuis of Carmel.

Private funeral services were held last Thursday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea. Inurnment was in the family plot in San Gabriel Cemetery.

Raymond Hornby

Raymond Hornby died in a local hospital on January 20 after a period of ill health. He was a retired citrus grower who came to live in Carmel in 1940. His home was at San Antonio Street and Fourth Avenue.

Mr. Hornby was born in New York City on November 12, 1883. He lived near Redlands before moving here 19 years ago. His wife, Eleanor, died in 1951.

In December, Mr. Hornby resigned from the post of Senior Warden of St. John's Episcopal Chapel because of ill health. Previously he had served many terms as vestryman. He was a member of Cypress Point Club.

Survivors are two sons, Raymond Hornby Jr. of Kentfield and David Hornby of Brunswick, Maine; two daughters, Mrs. Eleanor Hills of Chevy Chase, Maryland, and Mrs. Joan Ashton of La Jolla; a sister, Mrs. Hugh Moran of Palo Alto; and 11 grandchildren. Private services were held in Redlands.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mr. Hornby may do so in the form of donations to the Monterey County Cancer Research Society, Box 1028, Monterey.

Alma Wermuth

Mrs. Alma Fay Wermuth died on Monday in her home on Monte Verde Street between Eleventh and Twelfth Avenues. She was the wife of Lieutenant Earl Wermuth of the Carmel Police Department. Her death followed many years of ill health.

Mrs. Wermuth was born in Camden, Illinois, on October 16, 1907. She had lived in Carmel for the past 34 years.

Besides her husband, who has been a member of the police force for 30 years, Mrs. Wermuth is survived by a son, Ray Wermuth of Carmel; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Graham of Menlo Park; a sister, Mrs. Pearl Diersen of Camden, Illinois; and a brother, Chester Koontz of Redwood City.

Private funeral services were held yesterday afternoon in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea with Dr. Joseph M. Ewing, pastor of the Carmel Presbyterian Church, officiating.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Wermuth may do so in the form of donations to the Monterey Bay Area chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, 990 Benito Court, Pacific Grove.

COUNTY TELETYPE ELECTION RETURNS CHEAPER THAN YOU'D THINK

County Clerk Emmett McMennamin estimates that the cost of renting equipment to comply with the new state law, which requires county clerks to provide teletype and telephone communications between the local office and Secretary of State Frank Jordan's to report election returns, will cost, in the case of Monterey County, around $135.

The law requires that equipment be installed so that returns of the Primary and General elections can be reported at two-hour intervals beginning at 10:00 o'clock election night.

The equipment is rented for a one-night stand.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How prayer enables man to cope effectively with the problems of daily living will be brought out Sunday at Christian Science services.

Each section of the Lesson-Sermon on "Love" will deal with some aspect of prayer as taught by the master Christian, Christ Jesus. Selections to be read from the Bible include these verses from the Sermon on the Mount: "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened" (Matthew 7: 7, 8).

Also emphasizing the power of prayer are citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, which include the following: "If we pray to God as a corporeal person, this will prevent us from relinquishing the human doubts and fears which attend such a belief, and so we cannot grasp the wonders wrought by infinite, incorporeal Love, to whom all things are possible" (13:20-24).

Orchid Show Next Weekend

One Hundred and One Years of Orchid Progress is the theme of the seventh annual Spring Orchid Show to be held in the Pajaro Valley Bank, Watsonville, February 5-6. Sponsors are the Monterey Bay Orchid Society, Inc. and the bank. The largest commercial orchid growers to beginning amateurs will send blossoms to convert the bank lobby into a tropical paradise. Exhibition classes will be commercial, private grower, amateur and novice grower. Ribbon judging and award judging in all classes will be by accredited judges of the American Orchid Society and the Orchid Digest Corporation.

Any person wishing a show schedule or entry blank should write to Mrs. William E. King, show secretary, at 162 Manzanita Way, Salinas.

John Off To Mexico By Bus

Last week, knapsack on back, John Williams left to travel through Mexico by bus. From Mexico City he will take other bus trips to locations which interest him. One of these is Valle de Bravo where he will visit a former Carmel High schoolmate, Jorge Osorio. Last year Jorge came here to study and was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Boyer and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Craig. The Boyers brought Jorge to Carmel and took him back to Valle de Bravo this summer when they returned for another summer's work at Dr. Frank Laubach's literacy center, Casa de Alfabetizacion.

John also plans to see Oaxaca and the tropical coast of Mexico before returning to his home in Carmel Highlands. His parents are Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams. He was student body president for the first semester at Carmel High last year and graduated in June.

Diane Cochran Second Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cochran have named their second daughter, Katherine Diane. She weighed nine pounds when she was born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on January 11. Her sister, Carolyn, is 16 months old.

The Cochrans have lived in Carmel Valley for six months. Mr. Cochran is a real estate developer associated with Tierra Grande subdivision near the Farm Center.

Katherine Diane's grandfather is Mr. George Fenton of Vallejo.

Frank Lloyd Sailing West

"Aloha" was the farewell over the President Wilson's loudspeaker which applied to friends on the pier in San Francisco as Frank Lloyd sailed Sunday afternoon for two months in the Hawaiian Islands.

Clutching serpentine were his grandsons, Owen and Lloyd Baylis, held aloft by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Baylis. Sean Hopper grasped another fluttering streamer, captured for him by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. James Hopper. Hilary Belloc and Mrs. Lloyd completed the waving group.

Gottfrieds First Time Parents

Mr. and Mrs. John Gottfried's first child, a girl, was born in the Peninsula Community Hospital on January 13. They have named her Carolyn Marie. Her birth weight was six pounds.

Carolyn Marie's father grew up in Carmel. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gottfried of Carmel and Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Gualarte of Salinas.

On Way Home From Hawaii

Yesterday Mrs. Berenice W. Charles and Mrs. Sonora Hosking sailed from Honolulu on the Lurline after a visit in the Hawaiian Islands.

Which woman is a PG&E owner?

Probably both of them are... because PG&E is owned by thousands and thousands of men and women from all walks of life. No one of them owns as much as one-tenth of 1% of the Company. And whether you're one of our 226,000 shareholders or not, you have a stake in PG&E ownership if you have an insurance policy, or participate in a pension plan, or own shares in a mutual fund. PG&E securities are held by such institutional investors as these. Thus directly or indirectly nearly everybody is an owner of PG&E... and probably you are too!

Judy Brady Wed on Saturday

Two Monterey Peninsula College students, Judith Ann Brady and Ronald Chris Nichol森, were married at noon on Saturday in All Saints' Episcopal Church. The Reverend Peter Farmer performed the wedding ceremony in front of the altar decorated with white chrysanthemums and stock. Robert Forbes, church organist, played 'I'll Never Walk Alone' and the Hawaiian Wedding March while guests gathered, and the Mendelssohn Wedding March as the bride entered the church.

She was escorted by her brother, William J. Brady of Centerville, who gave her in marriage. Her white satin gown had a round neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. White satin bows marked the front and back of the Empire waistline below which fell the full street-length skirt. A white pearl-trimmed headband held her shoulder-length veil in place and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis centered with a white butterfly orchid.

Linda Withers attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a pink chiffon dress with a high fitted bodice and full skirt. Her satin shoes matched her frock. Pink carnations formed her headband and were combined with pink roses in her bouquet.

Bridesmaid was Brenda Reich in a lavender chiffon dress, matching satin shoes and a pink carnation headband. The flowers in her bouquet were the same as those carried by the maid of honor.

David Johnson of Santa Clara was best man for the bridegroom. The groom's brother, Douglas Nichol森 of Menlo Park, was the usher.

Mrs. W. E. Street of Menlo Park, the bride's mother, attended the ceremony wearing a green faille sheath dress with black hat and accessories.

Mrs. Chris E. Nichol森 of Menlo Park, mother of the bridegroom, was dressed in a green corduroy suit, black hat and accessories.

The reception following the marriage was held in the Cypress Club, decorated with pine boughs. After cutting their three-tiered wedding cake the bridal couple left for a honeymoon near San Simeon. The bride had changed into a black and white tweed suit, black accessories and her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet. They are now at home in Carmel.

The bride graduated from Menlo-Atherton High School in Menlo Park before enrolling at MPC. She is a sophomore majoring in social welfare.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Palo Alto High School. He is a business student at Monterey Peninsula College and will enter his sophomore year next month.

Assisting With Mills Show

Carmel ROA Chapter Officers

Lieutenant Colonel Willard Shope (USAR), Pebble Beach, will be installed as vice president of the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the Reserve Officers' Association at a dinner dance in the Copper Cup Room at the Naval Postgraduate School on Saturday evening.

Captain Edward Flaherty, (USNR) Carmel, will be installed as vice president for the Navy at the same event. Captain John D. Riner (USNR), president of the Department of California Reserve Officers' Association, will install the new local chapter officers. He is an analyst with Standard Oil Company of California in San Francisco.

Silver Beaver Award For Martin

John F. Martin, Monterey attorney who lives in Carmel Hills, received recognition "for noteworthy service of exceptional character to boys" when he was presented with a Silver Beaver award from the National Council of Boy Scouts of America on Saturday evening. He has served as a Scouting volunteer with the Monterey Bay Area Council for 18 continuous years.

The silver beaver award was made to Mr. Martin at a Recognition Dinner at the Corral de Tierra Country Club. Robert E. Ross of Carmel was a member of the recognition dinner committee.

Norman Show Opens In New York

Emile Norman of Big Sur will be in New York next week when his one-man show of sculptures opens the New York Feingarten Gallery on February 1. Mr. Norman had a preview of this exhibition for local friends some weeks ago at his Big Sur studio. This week Peninsula friends of Mr. Norman received copies of the catalogue for his New York show, containing pictures of many of the pieces of sculpture he will exhibit.

Grimes Family Vacations

The Pine Cone will be lacking a star salesboy for the next two weeks while Melvin Grimes accompanies his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Grimes, on a roaming vacation. The Grimes family plans to visit Lake Tahoe, Death Valley, Las Vegas, Boulder Dam, Grand Canyon, San Diego and Los Angeles before returning home to Carmel.

Two New Pebble Beach Babies

Two babies born this month in the Peninsula Community Hospital will live in Pebble Beach. They are Kirk Hamilton Woods, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Woods, and Edward McNeel Edminster, son of Captain and Mrs. Robert Edminster.

Kirk was born on January 12; Edward on January 14.

Call For Former Optimists

All former Optimist Club members, in or out of this state, are asked to telephone Emrie Pinney at Bell Insurance Agency, Mayfair 4-7297 or Colonel Jack Caldwell at Ocean Avenue Realty Company, MA 4-1234.

A preliminary meeting preparatory to organizing a local Optimist Club will be held next week.

Honor Orchestra, Chorus Perform in Pacific Grove Sat.

Honor chorus and orchestra students from 11 high schools in Monterey, San Benito and Santa Cruz Counties will give a concert in Pacific Grove High School on Saturday night at 8:00 o'clock.

The 120-voice choir will be conducted by Francis Baxter from Los Angeles State College, at present studying for a doctor's degree in music at Stanford University. Orchestra conductor will be Dr. George Kyme, professor of music at the University of California. Eighty students will play in the orchestra.

Students of Carmel High School music instructor John Farr who will be members of the honor orchestra are Herbert Myers, Gigi Green, Frances and Robert Boyer and James Wolfenden. Mr. Farr's honor chorus students are Karen Dawson, Judy Draper, Mary Edmondson, Norman Lausten, Cornelia Lieb, Jim Pruitt, Merle Sellers, John Soprano, Georgina Stockman, Mary Lou Thompson, Barbara Vincent, Margaret Warner, Jan Westcott and Ardean Wright.

The two music groups from three counties rehearsed all last Saturday in Watsonville. They will rehearse again all Saturday in Pacific Grove. There is an admission charge of 50 cents for the concert. This is to defray expenses.

The tri-county honor choir and orchestra concert is an annual affair held in a different location each year. In this way residents of various communities are given an opportunity to hear students' impressive musical performance. This year's groups are outstanding under excellent direction, according to Mr. Farr.

Fire Partially Destroys Frey Home

Fire from an undetermined cause damaged the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Frey on Casanova Street north of Ocean Avenue Sunday evening. The Carmel Fire Department responded to a general alarm call at 8:35 o'clock with 26 men and three trucks.

A neighbor notified the department of the blaze. Mr. and Mrs. Frey were absent from their home at the time the fire started. Mr. Frey, proprietor of the Dolores Bakery, was at his place of business. Mrs. Frey was at church.

Firemen found the top floor of the house in flames when they arrived. They confined the blaze to the living room on this floor with some damage to a bedroom below.

County Symphony Youth Concert Is Gift From Many

The fifth annual Young People's Concert, which Carmel school children will hear Saturday morning, February 6, in Sunset Auditorium, is a musical gift from many people.

They include not only the 70 members of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra—some of whom come from as far away as King City for rehearsals and performances—but also members of the Monterey Peninsula League and other organizations and individuals who donate both time and money to make the concerts possible.

The orchestra's Monday night rehearsals at Sunset have been devoted to the varied program specially prepared for the young audiences by conductor Earl Murray. The selections range from a fugue by Bach to a hoedown by Copland.

The Carmel School System is donating the use of school busses to transport the musicians to Monterey and Salinas for repeats of the Carmel concert and to bring in students from Carmel Valley.

Mrs. Talcott Bates, a member of the League and a Symphony Association director, is in charge of arrangements for this year's Young People's Concerts.

Volunteers from the League will usher at the 9:30 o'clock concert at Sunset Auditorium, which is planned for school children from Pacific Grove as well as Carmel and Tulare.

In addition to Mrs. Bates, ushers will be Mrs. Robert Kvenild, Mrs. Annette Thorn, Mrs. John Monroe, Mrs. Raymond Draper, Mrs. Peter Dyer and Mrs. Walter Williams of Carmel and Mrs. Richard Still of Pacific Grove.

The Monterey Peninsula League has been the principal supporter of the Young People's Concerts since they were started five years ago. Special donations towards these concerts have also been made by the Symphony Guild, Monterey Peninsula Concert Association and the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services.

The Symphony Association needs additional help in order to continue making it possible for local children to see and hear a "live" symphony concert each year. Contributions earmarked for this project may be sent to the Symphony Association, Box 3881, Carmel.

FIRE HOUSE IS ART GALLERY

Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Meador have converted the old Carmel Highlands Fire House into an art gallery. They also live in the building. The garage which formerly housed the fire truck is Mr. Meador's painting studio.

The Carmel Highlands Gallery, new name for the old fire house, is open each day from 11:00 o'clock in the morning until 9:00 in the evening. Pictures on display have been collected by Mrs. Meador in Mexico, France, Southern California, on the Peninsula, and at Big Sur.

tion of this Notice, they either file them with the necessary vouchers in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Monterey, or present them with the necessary vouchers to the said Administrator with the Will Annexed at the law office of George P. Ross, Room 5, Las Tiendas Building, City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, Monterey County, State of California, which office and place the undersigned selects as the place of business in all matters connected with the estate of said Deceased.

Dated: January 25, 1960.

MacGregor Casts Only No Vote To Fenton Gas Pumps

Morse, can draft a resolution embodying five conditions governing the granting of an accessory use permit for the Fenton Plaza pumps.

These conditions are: The pumps must be completely within the confines of the parking facility; the service station facility must be screened from the street and no articles to be sold in the station may be displayed on the street; there shall be no separate advertising for the station on the exterior of the parking facility building; space for not less than 160 self-parked cars must be provided in the garage; parking garage plans may not be modified other than to conform to the above conditions and the planning commission must approve any change in the plans.

Previous to this action, commissioners listened to lawyers and citizens who argued for and against the pumps for over an hour. Speaking against the pumps were Thomas Montgomery, representing Dale Leidig; George Walker for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leidig and Mrs. Mary Gould; and Mrs. Rose Crumrine.

Pump proponents were Mark Raggett—"It is good for the city, good for business, good for residents,"—and Attorney Lewis Fenton, representing Plaza developer Leslie C. Fenton.

Other action by planning commissioners yesterday afternoon was to grant a building permit to Joseph Motta for a two-story structure on the west side of Mission Street between Fifth and Sixth Avenues with a restaurant on the first floor, four offices on the second.

Remodelling permits were given to James M. Rowe to install a partition in an archway at Whitney's Restaurant to connect the enclosed space to an office; and to the Carmel Art Association to rebuild part of the Carmel Art Gallery and make a small addition.

A request from Armand's Beauty Salon to remove an existing window and replace it with a new wall and smaller boxed windows was denied. Reason for the denial was that the formica-type material for the wall indicated in the plans, was not in accordance with materials desired for business district construction.

WEST POINT NOMINEE

Congressman Charles M. Teague announces that he has chosen Frederick W. Coleman IV of Carmel as one of eight nominees for an appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York. Final selection of two candidates from the eight nominees will be made by the academic board at West Point.

CONCERT CANCELLED

The Occidental College Glee Club concert in Carmel on February 6 has been cancelled. Carmel Kiwanis, sponsors of the event, received word yesterday that because of the illness of Dr. Howard Swan, glee club director, the group had cancelled the tour which would have brought them to the Peninsula next week.
